LORD MONCKTON: “THE SCIENCE IS NOT SETTLED”

A CARBON TAX WILL BANKRUPT AUSTRALIA
THE SCIENCE DOES NOT JUSTIFY IT

Viscount Christopher Monckton will explain why.

The purpose of this message is to invite people interested in the climate change debate to the lunchtime lecture by Lord Christopher Monckton to be presented on July 20, 2011 at Morgans at 401 Conference Centre.

Those who attended any of the brilliant lectures given by Lord Christopher Monckton when he was in Melbourne in 2009 will recall his ability to deal with difficult issues on climate science in a readily understandable way. It will be recalled that in May 2010 Monckton played a leading role in the Oxford Union debate at which an audience of university undergraduates rejected the notion that “global warming” could become a global crisis.

In current circumstances, where the Gillard Government is trying to justify the need for a carbon tax on the argument that “the science is settled,” Monckton will be a breath of fresh air in exposing on his return visit just how badly flawed this claim is and what likelihood there is of agreed international action to reduce emissions of greenhouse gases.
